

PhazeComp License Agreement

Upon payment of each agreed-upon license fee, the purchaser will hereby be granted a license by Zick Technologies (a corporation registered in Oregon, USA) to use the software known as PhazeComp until the license's expiration date, provided the purchaser agrees to the terms of this license. Until the expiration date, the purchaser shall be allowed to activate each license on any compatible computer of its choosing. A license may be moved from one computer to another, as long as no effort is made to activate a given license on more than one computer at a time. The PhazeComp software itself may be installed on any computer, but the full set of purchased features will only be available on a computer with an active license installed. Employees of the purchaser who are given access to a licensed version of PhazeComp shall also agree to the terms of this license. Use of the program beyond the expiration date, except in its feature-limited demonstration mode, is prohibited under this license. Any attempt to defeat the license protection scheme or to decompile, reverse engineer, or modify the code of PhazeComp is also prohibited.

As long as the purchaser does not willfully break the terms of this agreement, the purchaser shall be allowed to renew each license for a subsequent license period. If the renewal is purchased while the previous license is still valid or within one month of its expiration date, the renewal fee will be the lesser of (a) the normal license fee then offered by Zick Technologies or (b) the fee at the time of the previous purchase, adjusted by a 5% annual inflation rate. After the allowed renewal period, any license extension would be considered a new license purchase and would be priced at the rates then offered.

If Zick Technologies should ever cease to exist, a third party would be found to assume the ownership of PhazeComp and the terms of this license.

While every attempt has been made to ensure the correctness and reliability of PhazeComp, and every reasonable attempt will be made in the future to fix any defects brought to the attention of Zick Technologies, no software can be guaranteed, and therefore PhazeComp is provided "as is" and without warranty. Zick Technologies shall not be liable for any damages resulting from the use of, or inability to use, PhazeComp.